Last Sunday was awesome!! As I headed back from North Clymer from a bridal shower, I drove into a rain shower. I thought, "Wait! I told Nathan this was NOT going to happen! Just keep changing the channel until you like the weather for Sunday Night." That and the prayers, and the rest was up to GOD. We could move inside, but the idea was to reach OUTSIDE our walls and welcome the friends and neighbors to celebrate with us. Scott was at church and had picked up where I had left off with the prep. Our band + Kim and Mike Strickland were in the parking lot, under some canopies, getting set. Jason was under an umbrella doing sound check and it was not raining. Much.

It was not long at all before people were arriving with mac & cheese and desserts and energy. "What can we do to help?" they'd say. A point in one direction or another, and they were headed out to do all the little things that pull something like this together. People who couldn't be there, had dropped things off. A total of 25 different batches of mac and cheese were presented for tasting. More desserts than a woman should look at without gaining weight, were spread on another 2 tables. Rolls and bread rounded out the offering for our eating pleasure.

Duane's rough headcount was 125. Doesn't really matter. What does matter, is that GOD IS GOOD, all the time. Sometimes he expects us to step out of our comfort zone and share that other tunic- or Mac & Cheese and Music- with others.

Luke 3:11 And he would answer and say to them, "The man who has two tunics is to share with him who has none; and he who has food is to do likewise."

We are all God's people and there is plenty of room here for double the people to join in worship. They need to be invited, to feel welcome, to know that they matter. If they came here before, and we haven't seen them in a while, they need to hear that they are missed and know that they matter. They matter to GOD. We have a great Sunday morning service, which is a wonderful blend of traditional and contemporary. We have an active and busy Sunday School time. We have Bible Studies and small groups here a few times a week, youth and AWANA...so many opportunities to grow and learn and share.. Join us as we continue to reach out in Christian love, in our future events and everyday life. This was not a Scott and Karen thing..... it was a GOD thing. But we sure are grateful for all the hands that made this happen. OPEN HEARTS - OPEN DOORS...this is just the beginning!!
